Election/R striction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-8, 18-22, 24-31, and 41, drawn to collecting transaction information to generate statistics about the transaction, classified in class 705, subclass 10.
 - II. Claims 9-14, 23, 32-37, and 42, drawn to sending suppliers a filtered electronic record corresponding to items they sold, classified in class 705, subclass 7.
 - III. Claims 15-17, 38-40, and 43, drawn to collecting transaction information by identifying a program requiring the information and then extracting and formatting the information accordingly, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as planning supply chain activities based on projects about future transactions. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because it does not require the details of how data is extracted and formatted. The subcombination has separate utility such as extracting and formatting data of any type regardless of the intended purpose of the data.

Art Unit: 3623

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as profiling the sales of a supplier. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II or III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Groups I or III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for Groups I or II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. A telephone call was made to Duke Yee (Reg. No. 34,285) on April 8, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made. The Examiner left a voice mail message requesting that Mr. Yee contact her regarding the restriction; however, Mr. Yee has not yet returned the call.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
